Managed Service - your advantage in operation

The operation of a software solution requires demands on monitoring, administration and regular software updates, which take resources, expertise, time and finances. These are often under appreciated in the evaluation.

Swiss Cyber Gate AG offers you a combination of software license and operation so that you can focus on your core business and rely on experts in daily operations. We believe that this will bring a number of benefits to you.

Increased security: A CargoServer installation is exposed to the internet by the services offered and therefore a sensitive system in terms of security. We can guarantee you fast analysis, reactions and updates on security-related issues (vulnerabilities) and act proactively since we know the software as the manufacturer best.

Better monitoring: We monitor important system values and log files to respond quickly to incidents that could affect the functionality of the system.

Efficient operation: You do not need to build expertise in the systems and technologies employed by the CargoServer, simply rely on us to customise the configuration, software updates and implement specific requirements in your infrastructure.

Predictable costs: The costs of a managed service solution can be planned for you as a customer— the service requires no further human resources.

We are convinced that this model shall bring important advantage to you!
